Grading criteria for the exam

N.B. 1. Please bring a laptop computer to the exam.

N.B. 2. During the exam, you will have access to the internet and to books and documents you brought with you.

I. The following qualities will be valued:

1. Quality of the underlying lexicological (linguistic) analysis.
2. Relevance of the lexicographical treatment.
3. Application of the theoretical and descriptive principles, including terminology and typographical conventions, studied in class.
4. Quality of the argumentation put forward in metalexicographical comments.
5. Making explicit the sources you used (e.g. for first attestations or etymologies).

II. Do not worry about the following:

1. Your English does not have to be perfect: all that counts is that Éva Buchi and Carlos Valcárcel Riveiro understand what you want to say.
2. Of course, some of your lexicographical work will be provisional, which is perfectly okay: if there is no time for covering all of the task, just explain what you would have done in order to deal with some of its aspects.
